

Zero Harm... Our Vision

We all put safety first

We talk to each other openly and honestly about any unsafe behaviour we observe

We all feel passionate about safety for ourselves and others

We all share learning with each other across the business

We all look out for each other at all times

We continuously drive to remove hazards and minimise risk

We all take ownership and responsibility for safety by being proactive and present

Our passion for safety extends to all our stakeholders, including visitors, suppliers and customers

Directors and Managers are role models and lead by example

Our Zero Harm culture is a benchmark for other companies

We all feel empowered to challenge the status quo

Safety is second nature to all of us
